It is like living out your own MBA across a year, rather than studying one.

6 one day intensive workshops and a year of field work, changing from the inside out and from the outside in.

One day every second month, with a group of people who have decided yesterday's way, thinking, doing and being is not what they will be up to or replying in tomorrow.

As Professor Mark Tennant said "... Not for the emotionally squeamish or excessively defensive."

It will demand of you, that you explore thinking as you have never done before.

From the first moment, you are asked to make Experimental Learning the norm, leaving your old beliefs aside for some time and see what arrives or what you discover. That can be frightening for some, liberating and redefining for most. One participant last year wrote, saying "... I feel reborn....."
